BASHA باشا

chicken & snack

Brand guidelines · 2026

Hello, we're Basha

A Lebanese chicken & snack spot with big flavour and a big smile. Everything we make, from a sandwich to a sticker, should feel generous, fun and a little bit cheeky, in English and in Arabic.

Fun
مرضومين

We don't take ourselves too seriously. Big letters, bright colours, a wink.

Generous
كريمين

Full sandwiches, extra sauce, friendly prices. No fine print.

Proudly Lebanese
لبنانيين وعن جد

We speak English and Arabic, often in the same sentence.

How we talk

Yalla eat! يلا كول!

Crispy! مقرمش!

So good. طيب كتير

Hot & fresh سخن وطازة

Extra garlic? زيادة توم؟

Cool your heart برّد قلبك

Short, warm, like a friend at the counter. Mix languages freely. Never corporate ("Dear valued customer..."), never rude.

01

The logo

BASHA in big, bubbly letters with a 3D shadow, and باشا stuck on like a sticker. It's our signature.
Please don't redraw it; always use the files in the kit.

Anatomy

Wordmark: BASHA in Bagel Fat One, on one line, with a deep-red 3D shadow.

Sticker: باشا in Lalezar on a yellow pill, tilted 9°, sitting on the last A.

Tagline: "chicken & snack" in Fredoka. It can be left off when space is tight.

Clear space

Keep empty space around the logo at least as tall as the sticker (the dashed line).

Minimum size

Print: 30 mm wide. Screen: 160 px wide. Smaller than that? Use the "B" submark.

02

Logo versions

Choose the version that stands out best on its background.

Primary · on tomato red

On cream, kraft or white

On black / dark photos

On sunshine yellow

One colour (stamps, receipts)

Submark “B” (profile, icon, tiny sizes)

03

Please don’t

Small changes break the magic. Keep the logo exactly as it comes.

Stretch or squash it

Change its colours

Remove or move the sticker

Tilt or rotate it

Put it on a busy photo

Add glows, outlines or effects

04

Colours

Warm, loud and appetising. Tomato red leads; cream, sunshine and ink support it. Deep red is only for the 3D shadow; pink is for fun extras.

06

Graphic elements

Our toolkit for making anything feel like Basha.

Stickers

Yellow pill, ink outline, slightly tilted. Use them for the Arabic name, “new”, prices and offers. One or two per design, not ten.

Starbursts

For prices and shouts (“500K”, “SO GOOD”, “HOT!”). Yellow or pink with an ink outline.

The name pattern

BASHA and باشا on a slant. Use it for wrapping paper, bag sides, menu backs and Instagram highlight covers.

Big cropped words

Huge words that run off the edge (CRISPY, EAT!, MENU) make posts and packaging loud and fun.

07

Photography

Real food, close up, on our red-and-white checkered paper. Messy in a good way.

Do

- ✓ Shoot in daylight, close to the food, from above or at a 45° angle.
- ✓ Show the sauce, the cheese pull, the crunch.
- ✓ Keep the checkered paper in the shot; it's our backdrop.

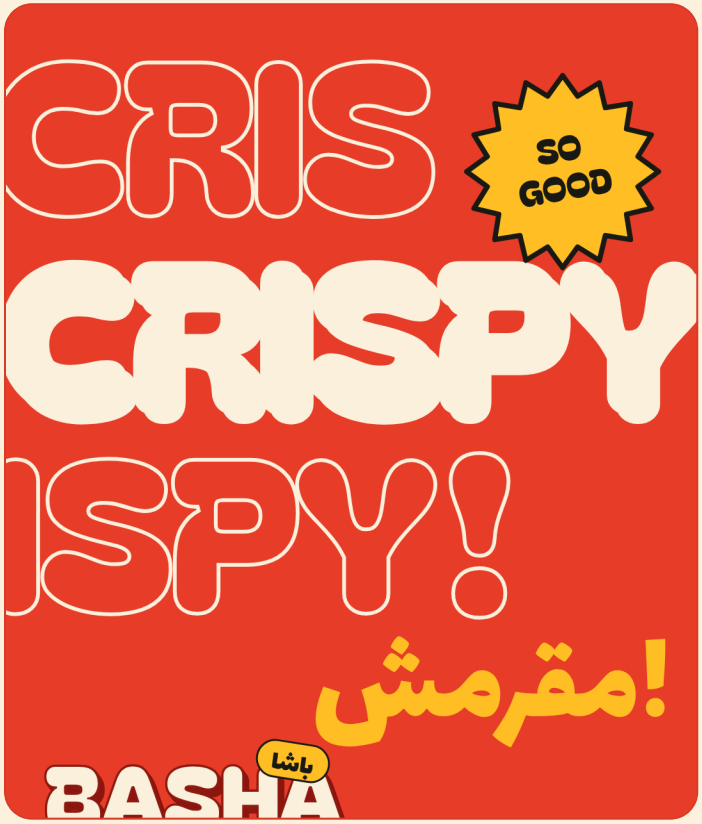

Don't

- × Dark or yellow kitchen light, flash.
- × Cluttered backgrounds, hands with phones, other brands' packaging.
- × Heavy filters. A little warmth is enough.

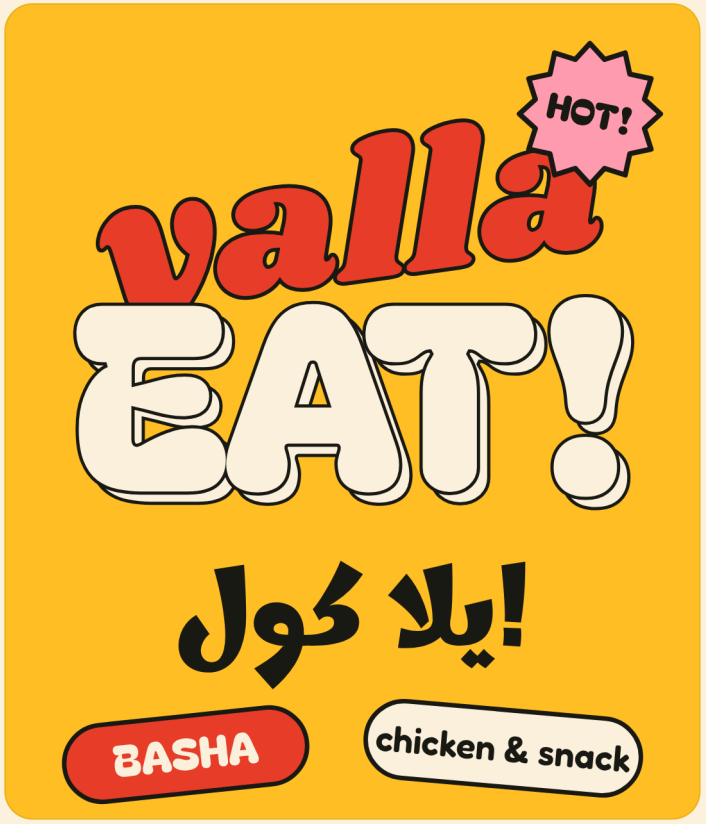

08

Social media

One big word, one great photo or one offer per post. Logo small in a corner. Mix English and Arabic.

Word post: one big word + Arabic

Mood post: phrase in both languages

Product post: photo + name + price burst

09

Packaging

Every bag, cup and box is a little billboard.

Takeaway bag

Drink cup

Box seal sticker

Wrapping paper

Cheapest first step: a round “yum!” sticker on plain kraft bags and boxes, plus the pattern printed on greaseproof wrapping paper.

Print & signage

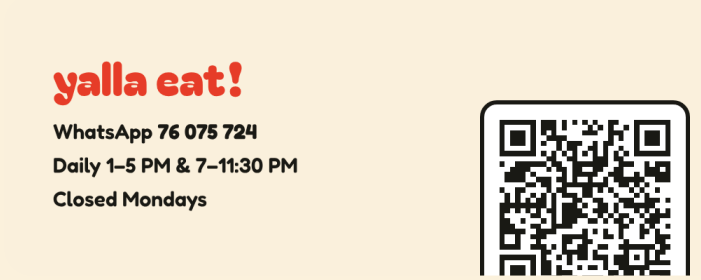

Business cards, the shop sign and the menu all speak the same language.
